THE VALUE OF WATER

Only a few years ago, the people of Texas thought there was more water in the streams of the State than would ever have a practical value. Yet today there is very general recognition of the fact that water is becoming the most sought natural resource the state possesses. The creation of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, to comprise the entire area of the water-shed of the Brazos River and its tributary streams, by the Forty-First Legislature, is a very distinct declaration by the state of Texas that the waters of this greatest of Texas' many important streams, should be conserved, stored, and so carefully used, and the varied uses so carefully coordinated, that none be allowed to waste or pass into the Gulf without filling a mission of service to the people. It should be a matter of universal gratification by the citizens of Texas that this great Brazos River District has been created, giving to the people of the water-shed areas of all other Texas streams an object lesson and an incentive to conserve and turn to useful purposes the vast volume of water that has been annually wasting into the sea.

The Brazos River District will perform a tremendous service for all Texas, and its purposes to store and use in the upper regions of the stream the water that has been causing loss and waste in the lower regions of the water-shed, will prove well worthy of emulation by other stream drainage areas.

Sheppard's Bill Would Make Easy Duties of Judges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The burden borne by the nation's federal judges would be lightened under a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas.

Sheppard would vest jurisdiction in misdemeanor cases with the United States commissioners, who, however, could try a defendant only with his permission. Additionally, any person convicted before a commissioner could not be brought up in federal court as though no trial had been had.

The senator declared that thousands of misdemeanor cases in which the defendant has no other plan than to plead guilty are tried annually in the federal courts, clogging the dockets and delaying the disposition of important matters.

The bill, sent to the judiciary committee, will not be acted on before the regular session of congress.

Salvation Army Again Is Aided By Bryan People

W. D. Pedigo, field representative of the Salvation Army in this district, left for Navasota today after spending several days in Bryan assisting with the canvass for funds to support the activities of that organization which has been accorded a quota of $100 per year from Bryan and Brazos county for a number of years.

Mr. Pedigo expressed his sincere appreciation for the generous response accorded by the citizens of Bryan in the matter of funds contributed and assistance rendered in the drive for funds. While the amount given this year reached a total of only $363.70, somewhat under the amount given in previous years, Mr. Pedigo left Bryan feeling that the Salvation Army and its efforts to serve those who are "down but never out," have been appreciated here and that in years to come the deficit of this season will be more than supplied in increased contributions from those who were limited in their generosity at this time. Mr. Pedigo was especially impressed with the fact that $50.70 of the amount contributed here came from the student body at A. and M. College.

The Salvation Army has long been recognized as one of the most businesslike as well as the most considerate of charitable organizations. Its affairs are so administered that there is high efficiency in the expenditure of funds, yet in the rendering of service the process is simple and without delays or display of red tape, workers go straight to the heart of the problem and apply the needed measures to accomplish the greatest relief and good with a minimum expenditure of funds and energy. Its response to requests for assistance in solving certain social problems that occur in every community has been most gratifying to civic leaders here.

ASKS LARGER FUNDS TO DO BETTER WORK

Three Departments To Benefit If Funds Are Boosted

PROHIBITION BUREAU

Appropriation Put At $15,200,000 For Coming Year

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The future cost of an aggressive campaign for enforcement of the prohibition laws and prevention of rum smuggling outlined to congress today by President Hoover in submitting estimates for the 1931 budget.

He recommended that congress provide $15,200,000 for the prohibition bureau, permitting it to maintain the increased force insisted on by congress. In addition he asked $32,131,040 for the coast guard, an increase of $2,298,968; to total of $43,867,000 for the customs service permitting and increase of $479,300 for more administrative and field officers and $32,017,292 for the department of justice, an increase of $4,079,922 permitting also an increase in personnel.

The proportion of the cost of the coast guard, customs and justice funds to be expended by dry law enforcement was not given.

Though the requested prohibition appropriation is approximately the same as the amount available to the bureau this year is $1,275,000 more than so far actually appropriated for the present year (1929). The carryover from the $1,700,000 supplemental appropriation made by congress last March but credited to the 1929 fiscal year, brings the total available for the current year to $2,975,000.

The appropriation enabled the bureau to retain its 4,295 field employees, 1,506 of whom are listed as prohibition agents, 230 as special agents, 95 as prohibition investigators and 501 as narcotic agents.

The increase asked for the coast guard will enable it to purchase five fast off-shore boats at a cost of $800,000. One of the difficulties the service has had in combating with rum runners has been that the smugglers used speedier boats and were able to escape. The coast guard also requested $300,000 for completing the repair of the cutters already authorized and $1,330,000 to recondition 12 naval destroyers to be turned over by the navy to replace 12 old ships of that class.

The increase also would permit construction of new communication lines, especially in Florida, $269,000 for rebuilding and re-

With this sum available, it was said, the activities of the Good Cheer will not be crippled or handicapped during the coming year.

Dairy Route Important

The dairy route to be inaugurated on next Monday through the communities of Steep Hollow, Reliance, Kurten, Fickey, etc., should not be considered with mere passing interest. If this enterprise meets with success it means the beginning of an industry that will bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to the farmer of Brazos county every year, and the distribution of such money will be throughout the year, enabling the farmer to go on a cash basis instead of on credit as at present. Again, for the dairy business to succeed will mean better farm lands and better living conditions on the farm homes in Brazos county. If you want this dairy route to succeed, get your cream can ready and have the cream at the mail box next Monday morning when the truck comes along. If you desire more information, then meet with John W. Hicks in his dairy meeting next Saturday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce at 2 o'clock. This is your institution to foster and make grow, or to starve out and let die. Which?

Good 4-H Boy Report

The latest 4-H Club report received is that of Andrew Anderson who is having his second year's experience on the farm this year. Last year Andrew, had his crop pretty nearly destroyed by hail, and this year excessive rain, followed by extreme drought, has afforded ample excuse for most any club boy to fail to make report, but not for Andrew's report is already in. Added to all the unfavorable weather phenomena, Andrew has had to try to farm in one of the worst Bermuda patches to be found—the old Mondrick farm just north of Bryan—but this boy, yet fresh from the big cities of the East, is still in love with farm life and has high hopes of the future. His club work next year will include care of blood sow, cultivation of corn and cotton and encircling in tomatoes.

Large 4-H Club

Indications point to a large and enthusiastic 4-H Club at Tabor next year, the heartiest response being given the county agent's appeal at the Tabor school this week. This is a fact should be Tabor club was the first 4-H Club to win state championship, and the school now has as its principal a former club boy, Sam Pate, who is interested in promoting club work as are all the other teachers in the Tabor school. In speaking before the school, Tuesday, afternoon, County Agent Beason said he would never be satisfied till a Tabor club boy won a trip to Chicago as had been done by six other Brazos county boys. Elmer Wilson, almost single handed and alone, showed the possibilities open to Tabor boys and girls by winning a trip to Dallas Fair this year. All right, boys and girls, let's go. Help put Tabor first in 1930.

This is the last call for reports. If you don't send in your report, we may have to come after it. Don't let that happen. We are also short on some Live-at-Home reports. Some already sent in will do your heart good when you have a chance to read them, and will cause you to revise your opinion of life on the good old farm—the best place on earth to live.

Women Submit Reports

Club women are submitting some interesting garden and canning reports. At the beginning of the year they planned to serve leafy and succulent vegetables from the home garden (either fresh or canned) every day during the year. In spite of the dry season and poor gardens some have reached their goal. The well filled pantry of canned products make possible better meals, better health and a reduced grocery bill.

Tabor Girls' Reports In

The Tabor Girls' Club is already 100 per cent in club-story reports. Let's make all clubs in the county hundred percenters.

In Living Room Contest

Mrs. M. Thompson will be a member of the improved living room demonstration for the coming year. She will remodel some of her well built old furniture into better than new pieces.

Director Hired To Aid Farmers Grow Tomatoes

The Brazos County Tomato Growers' Association met at the court house last Saturday and among the other business transacted was the employment of F. H. Tulloch of Alto as director and instructor for the tomato growers of Brazos county. Mr. Tulloch comes highly recommended as a successful tomato grower, his experience covering several years in the East Texas tomato district. His duties with the Brazos county growers will be to provide hot beds, provide the plants, show the farmers how to build cold frames, transplant the young plants into cold frames, hold field meetings and assist in other ways to make the enterprise successful.

The growers will be charged $1.50 per acre to be seed by the director or superintendent, to build hot beds, purchase seed, etc. The chairman in each community was requested to get busy and collect this money in order that the work may begin right away. Mr. Tulloch will, likely enter upon his duties within the next few days, so as to have hot beds ready by the middle of December.

Former Resident, Now of Houston, Is Buried Here

Funeral services for W. L. Wyatt, aged 41 years, whose death occurred in Houston, Sunday morning were held from the Southern Pacific train today at noon. Interment was made in the city cemetery with Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating. The cause of the death of Mr. Wyatt is unknown. He was found in an unconscious condition in a ditch near his home on North Milby Street, Houston, Sunday morning at 1 o'clock. The injured man was hurried to Jefferson Davis hospital in that city, but died soon after reaching the hospital.

The deceased is survived by his widow, three sons and two daughters, all of Houston. W. L. Wyatt was for several years, with the police force in Bryan, and moved to Houston some two years ago.

Community Work By Expert Now Suggested Here

Attention was called by President J. Webb Howell of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce this morning to the services of Henry W. Stanley, community expert of the Etes Chamber of Commerce, which are available without charge. He stated that the merchants of Bryan might be interested in having Mr. Stanley come here after the first of the year to put on a Merchants' Institute. The matter, he said, was one for the business men of the city to decide, stating that other communities in East Texas had availed themselves of this service.

Mrs. Good, connected with the Volunteers of America, appeared before the Chamber of Commerce meeting this morning to ask an endorsement before starting out to solicit funds for the organization with which she is connected. The matter, after some little discussion was referred to the committee in charge and indorsement refused.

The cost of those connections for gas stoves was brought up by J. Bryan Miller, chairman of the fire prevention committee, who stated that these meant an increase of $1 per $1,000 in insurance rates. He stated the committee regarded such connections as a fire hazard that should be eliminated as quickly as possible and that the committee would take all possible steps to this end.

Members present were George A. Adams, Wilson Bradley, Travis B. Bryan, F. L. Cavitt, J. Webb Howell, J. Bryan Miller, M. F. Vitopil and E. E. Yeager.

DAIRY ROUTE IS LAID OUT; OPENS DEC. 9

FARMERS INTERESTED ALSO ORGANIZE DAIRY ASSOCIATION

The dairy movement in Brazos county took two definite steps last Saturday in a meeting held at the county agent's office. The creation of a dairy route, which has been under consideration for some time, was routed through Steep Hollow, Reliance, Kurten, Fickey, then back to Bryan by way of the W. Manthei and John White farms, coming into the Madisonville route at the old Wixon church.

In order that the patrons along the route may be advised of the route, the initial trip will be made on Monday, Dec. 9. County Agent Beason agreed to go over the route some time during the present week, and see the patrons in person and tell them to be ready with their cream. Twice-a-week delivery will be put on for the present delivery service beginning when the business will justify it.

The other important step at Saturday's meeting was the organization of a county dairy association to further the interest of the work throughout the county. John W. Hicks of Steep Hollow was elected president; Clarence R. Seaton of Reliance, vice president; Arnold Murray of Steep Hollow, secretary. Mr. Hicks stated that he would ask all interested dairymen to meet with the officers of the association at the Chamber of Commerce next Saturday, December 7, at 2 p. m. to outline plans and policies for the future.

August B. Anderson, local architect and builder, addressed the meeting by telling those present that his own native country, Sweden, became a great dairy country by taking definite steps outlined by competent leaders, and that we had a great opportunity here in Brazos county to develop the dairy industry.

Growth

THE whole universe is in a state of constant change. Everything about us, yes even ourselves and our community are undergoing a continuous change.

Most marked of all these changes is that of GROWTH.

Appreciation of growth can be understood by considering the development of our own town with that of other towns. A study of this development brings home to us, among other vital facts, this truth—the measure of Community success is dependent upon growth.

In other words, no community stands still—there are but two alternatives, the community grows and succeeds—or it goes backward and perishes.

Population alone does not determine the prosperity of our community any more than the weight of the individual determines health or personality.

Eminent physicians in referring to the physical condition of individuals tell us: "Your belt line is your life line—watch your belt line." By the same token experienced authorities on community development have cast into the discard the slogan "Watch Us Grow" for the more scientific phrase "Watch Your Growth."

Successful community growth demands the rate of increase in population be in proper relation to the size of the community. A normal growth, which allows this added population to become assimilated, welded, fused into the community life means that the community is in a sound condition.

*A Message —
Increase in the number of its inhabitants is the best index to the prosperity and welfare of any body of people*

*Adam Smith
Founder of Modern Social Science*

Let us not aspire to become just a bigger community, but to become a Bigger and Better Community. A town cannot be bigger until it is better, and it cannot be better until it is bigger. Let us remember that it is natural and normal for a community to grow—unless it does there is something wrong—something lacking.

What is the normal growth of a community?

The answer to this question must be sought in the records of the development of all communities in our nation. Nor can it be answered by a simple statement, because community growth is complex and varies with geographical location, resources, leadership and present size. However, the average growth is now 15% every ten years.

Let us all create a spirit and enterprise in our community that will bear fruit in the creation of a Bigger and Better town to live in.

Brazos Farmers Step Forward

Farmers of Brazos took two long steps Saturday in the direction of greater farm prosperity and profit and every farmer in the county and every business man who is looking to the future not only of his business but of the entire community, should be vitally interested and give both movements initiated full support.

For the first time in many years, if not in the history of the county, a regular and well defined cream route has been worked out. This will tap a number of rural communities and serve to collect the product of many farms. At the beginning collections will be made twice each week and these will be made more frequently as the quantity of cream furnished justifies this action.

There is no question but that the farmers who will take advantage of this route to send their cream to the creamery at College Station will realize quickly that milking cows for the purpose of selling cream regularly pays. This has been the experience of farmers in other counties in Texas and there should be no exception to this rule here. Of course some farmers will make more money than others. That always will be the case, but the movement, as a whole, should show satisfactory profits and as methods of feeding and quality of stock are improved, these profits should increase materially.

The other forward step was the decision by a number of farmers who have pledged a limited acreage to the tomato growing movement to employ an expert in tomato culture to prepare hot beds, grow and sell plants to the farmers, help them to build cold frames and in other ways aid them in starting this new machinery here. The expert for 1930 is a modest one to start, as not more than 100 acres will be planted, but if it is as successful here as it has been in other counties in East Texas it should open the way to a larger project in tomato growing and to other projects of a similar nature that will serve to give the farmers interested some additional revenue and at seasons of the year when this additional money will be most desirable.

There should be no question of the value of these two projects to this county. The statement was made recently by a Bryan business man, in close touch with conditions, that in his opinion at least fifty percent of the land annually planted to cotton in this county was farmed unprofitably. He pointed out how some sections of the county have retrograded, and largely because they were continued to grow cotton—or let it grow itself—and have overlooked or neglected opportunities for profit in other crops and methods of farming.

Other counties and sections of Texas and other southern states, where agriculture has gone down hill because the one crop system had been followed too long, have found the necessity for change from the one crop system. As a rule this change has been a satisfactory one, producing larger profits, building up soil fertility and making over, from the point of prosperity and happiness, many rural communities. What has been done elsewhere can be done here and there is no question of the need in Brazos county. For this reason the two movements just initiated should be watched with interest and should be wholeheartedly supported.

Unproductive Farm Lands

Timbering of hundreds of thousands of acres of land in this country now classed as agricultural has been suggested by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, not only for the purpose of insuring a timber supply for the future but also as a possible solution of the farm problem in this country. The secretary cites the fact that the agricultural lands total 995,000,000 acres. Of this but 505,000,000 may really be cultivated with profit and 350,000,000 acres, he said, will produce all the agricultural products that this country can possibly use, probably leaving an exportable surplus in some particular products.

If these figures are correct then more than 150,000,000 acres of land are farmed on which no profit is possible although some production is recorded and the successful and profit-making farmers of the country must labor under the handicap of the result of the operations of their less fortunate brethren.

These marginal and submarginal farm lands, as they are described, might well be taken over by the government, according to Secretary Hyde's idea, planted to timber and made productive in this respect. The remainder of the agricultural lands of the country then would be cultivated more intensively, perhaps, and the men who farmed them should be beyond the need of government farm relief.

This is a plan at which many students of the farm situation might scoff but if the secretary's figures are well based, it may be an undertaking of the future. There is no question but that many acres of unproductive land are farmed; that the occupants would be better off in other locations or occupations and that these same lands, planted to timber, not only would aid in such matters as soil and water conservation but would produce a crop of timber constantly increasing in value. As a conservation and reclamation project it might well come within the province of the federal government.

Shop Early—And At Home

Now that the Thanksgiving holiday is practically over the thoughts of the people of Bryan and Brazos county, as in all other parts of the country, will turn to Christmas. Already many persons have partially perfected their plans, so far as gift lists are concerned, and now the Yuletide hopping season will start with a full swing.

Bryan merchants have made plans to stock a wide and varied assortment of goods suitable for the Christmas season. They have gone to great pains to make this stock one from which all citizens may make their selections. Time has been given the matter of selection and much money has been invested in these stocks.

The merchants of Bryan are entitled to the support and patronage of the buyers of this city and county. It may be that in some instances articles desired may not be found in local stocks. But the home merchant should be given a chance to supply all wants and trade should not be given elsewhere until every local effort to meet demand has been made.

Not only should the local merchant be patronized, but special efforts should be made to shop early. This is a distinct advantage to the purchaser who is thus able to choose from more varied assortments and to take more time for this work. It also is an advantage to the merchant, who is able to gauge more correctly the demands of the local market and to the clerks who are spared something of the nervous strain that results from last minute shopping by a horde of buyers.

Good Cheer Needs $2,000

Next week, on Thursday, December 12, to be exact, the men and women of Bryan who will take an active part in the effort to raise funds for the Bryan and Brazos County Good Cheer Association will begin their drive. According to officials of the organization, who have made a careful canvass of probable requirements, the goal should be set at $2,000, in order that the work of the association in relieving the helpless and needy of this community may not be hindered or handicapped for lack of funds.

In the year that has just closed, according to the report of activities for the past year, more money was expended in relief work than was collected during the drive a year ago. This results in an almost negligible balance with which to start the work for next year and an intensive effort will be necessary, as well as full cooperation from the charitably minded residents of Bryan, in order that the work be financed for another year.

Conditions are not as favorable as they were a year ago. Cotton still is king in Brazos county and this year his subjects were disappointed. The crop was short and the price comparatively low. Many families who have depended on this crop for their finances through the winter and until they might begin to anticipate another crop, find themselves in a more or less desperate financial condition. Bryan, not being an industrial community, has little or no steady work for any large number of people who might seek to tide themselves over a time of emergency by taking any opportunity for money making that might offer.

The net result of this condition, officials of the Good Cheer state, is bound to be an increased demand on the funds of the organization. For this reason these officials feel that $2,000 should be raised and although the drive will not begin until next week, they ask the men and women of Bryan who have given of their share of this world's good in the past, that those less fortunate than themselves might be provided with the bare necessities of life, to liberally support this movement. The need is greater than ever, they say, but they are confident that Bryan will rise to this responsibility just as she has acquitted herself in the past when need for action along this and other lines made itself evident.

Another Reason For Sidewalks

More or less agitation has been given the question of more and better sidewalks in Bryan in the last two or three months. This is a movement that has the indorsement of the chamber of commerce, the directors of which realize the need for this improvement and the value it will be to Bryan in many respects.

Most of the citizenship, however, is inclined to believe that more sidewalks simply mean better conveniences for pedestrians and lose sight of the fact that this city already is known abroad for its lack of sidewalks and will not only continue to be so known but will suffer, in such matters as the extension of free mail delivery, unless there is an improvement on this score.

This matter was called to the attention of the citizenship of Bryan a few days ago by Postmaster Charles Myers. He stated that the local postal officials have been working on a number of extensions that are desired by citizens of various sections of the city, not so served at the present time, and that the city will be entitled to other extensions when it is given a first class postoffice rating, as undoubtedly will be the case as a result of the volume of business done this year, which will exceed the required figure of $40,000.

But Mr. Myers states, also, that before any extensions are made, even though the business growth recorded by the local office entitles the city to this consideration, inspections will be made by postal inspectors detailed for this purpose of the sidewalk facilities of the sections in which the extensions are desired. If there is a great lack of sidewalks, as is the case in some sections, then the probability is that extension will not be granted. The postal department is strongly disinclined to compel mail carriers to plod through dust and mud and over uneven surfaces carrying heavy loads of mail matter. The position is taken that if citizens desire mail brought to their homes they should provide decent sidewalks over which the loads of mail may be carried.

The citizens of Bryan, therefore, should know that already Bryan is on record at Washington as a city whose people are more indifferent to the need for decent sidewalks than many other cities of similar size in this and other states and that more is at stake, in the building of stretches that will bridge the gaps that exist today than comfort and safety for residents and visitors who still trust themselves to shanks horses once in a while—though this latter consideration should be regarded as reason enough to warrant the construction so sadly lacking today.

A Municipal Airport Next

The city of Bryan practically has completed its building program for 1929. Three new buildings, two for school purposes and one to house the city government, are almost ready to move into. The city's paving program also is in good shape, and much has been done along this line in the past six months. The power plant of the city's public utility plant has been materially improved by the installation of a 600 horse power engine and other improvements have been made in and about the city.

In view of the fact that this is a progressive city, with a government that has formed the habit of looking ahead and anticipating the desire for public improvements, it is taken for granted that the men charged with the administration of the city's affairs will be interesting themselves in what next to take on, for the improvement and benefit of Bryan.

In this connection it appears to many citizens that the project of a municipal airport should be next in line. Bryan is one of the few cities of its size in Texas that has not made, or planned to make, this improvement.

The city is on a well defined aerial route, used daily for mail purposes and that in the future will be the path pursued by countless planes employed for commercial purposes. We need an airport now and this need is growing more imperative month after month. It would appear that the time to obtain the land necessary and suitable and to equip it according to government specifications is now, rather than some future time when locations will be harder to obtain, higher in price and after Bryan has suffered in reputation and prestige, and possibly in business, through lack of this modern facility.

VALUE OF HEALTH—

Butler, the nurse now employed, is being closely watched by the state health department as well as by officials of many Texas counties. This work had its inception with J. Webb Howell Mrs. Brock said, who offered to pay one fourth the cost of maintaining it after checking up on the results from negro health work in another Southern state.

In pointing out the importance of this work Mrs. Brock told of vastly improved health conditions among the negroes and stated that not only was their health standard raised but that by preventing the spread of disease among them the white population, which employed many negroes in domestic capacities, also was protected from disease.

Dr. Humbert, in speaking of health work among the whites, ventured the opinion that in a comparatively few years physicians will be employed to prevent disease rather than to patch up systems that have been torn down by the ravages of disease. Heredity, he said, played a great part in the progress made by disease and as better standards of health obtain preventive measures will be more successful.

What were said to be the only 100 per cent children in the 9th district of the Parent-Teacher Association, were presented to the club by Mrs. C. A. Sealey, chairman of the health committee of the district. They are Olive Mabry Griner and Alice Sue Roman. Mrs. Sealey also spoke briefly on the work of the Parent-Teacher Associations in the schools, with particular reference to health work.

Capt. George W. Griner, commandant at Allen Academy, presented Cadet Garnett Seebree as the student with the highest average grade to date in the school. Young Seebree is a native of Kansas but his family now resides in Beaumont. His average for the first quarter was 93.8.

The club will hold no regular meeting next Tuesday but will join with the Rotary Club as a joint host to the football teams of A. and M. College, Allen Academy, Stephen F. Austin high school and the coaching staffs of the three institutions.

Miss Betsy Sealey sang the national Parent-Teacher Association song, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," and Miss Rita Kraft and Mrs. Rita Dyerforth also rendered several selections.

Present were: Henry S. Locke, Charles S. Myers, Mit Dansby, J. Coulter Smith, F. D. Fuller, H. O. Ferguson, E. R. Bryant, Fred Hale, Garnett Seebree, Captain and Mrs. Geo. W. Griner, Olive Mabry Griner, Harry L. Durham, Alice Sue Roman, Mrs. C. A. Sealey, Mrs. J. L. Brock, Eugene P. Humbert, C. B. Holzmann, Joe Kaplan, Bill Wimberly, J. Bryan Miller, Jno. M. Lawrence Jr., Dr. Lamar Jones, M. M. Erskine, Betsy Sealey, Mrs. Roy Danforth, Rita Kraft and R. C. Franks.

COST OF—

pairing stations and funds for a new station at Quilayute, Wash. Further, a request was made for $320,000 for new seaplanes.

One of the outstanding increases sought was for the customs service to permit an addition of 24 administrative positions at the customs bureau headquarters. This would add $52,390 to last year's expenditures while the remainder of the increase, $440,000, would go for increased field personnel.

The changes also would enable a wide reorganization of the customs bureau administration under Commissioner Eble and enable it, officials believe, to collect more revenue than the $600,000,000 it generally turns in. At the same time it would permit a large increase in the number of customs agents and an increase along the Canadian border where the customs, prohibition and coast guards services might combine in their war on smugglers.

The increase in department of justice appropriation also would provide in part for an increase in personnel. That would be in addition to the flying squadron of ten criminal lawyers organized in the present year by Attorney General Mitchell to aid United States attorneys throughout the country in their prosecution of prohibition law violators.

GOOD CHEER—

clothing, $432.75; hospital and medicine, $99.10; wood, $42.50; milk, $29.50; rent, $15.30; cash to needy, $31; hauling, $10; railroad and bus fare, $74.74.

The annual report pointed out that disbursements slightly exceeded the collections for the year leaving a very small balance with which to start the work for the new year. In analyzing expenditures, it was shown that needy transients were aided to the extent of $72.93, or practically 5 per cent of the total disbursements. This shows that 95 per cent of the total amount of money collected and expended was used to relieve distress in this community and among local people.

With the exception of $31 none of the fund was turned over in cash to those helped by the Good Cheer, as this has been demonstrated not good practice and is done only in rare cases. In all cases every disbursement had the approval of a member of the committee.

Long Sickness Proves Fatal to Campus Resident

Bryan friends will regret to learn of the death of Robert F. Lancaster, aged 30 years, who passed away at the home of his son, R. R. Lancaster on the campus at A. and M. College, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1, at 4:30 o'clock, after a long illness.

The body was shipped Monday noon by McCulloch-Dansby, funeral directors of Bryan, to Nevada, Mo., where funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. R. R. Lancaster accompanied the body of his aged father to its last resting place in the old home cemetery in Nevada, Mo. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. C. E. Waterman of Chicago, Ill., and two sons, R. R. Lancaster, head of the architectural department A. and M. College of Texas, and D. S. Lancaster, Wheaton, Ill., and also by three aged brothers.

Bryan Baritone Has Fine Voice, Says Impresario

Word has been received by Mrs. George Griffin, mother of George Griffin, Bryan baritone, from Frank Proschowski, well known impresario with whom George Griffin is studying in New York City this winter to the effect that he is doing well and that great things are expected of him.

Proschowski writes, after expressing his high opinion of his pupil, "But the thing that really brought George and I together is his voice. It is a beautiful voice of rare quality. The ring of his voice is splendid and the volume ample for anything he wishes to undertake. But besides these good points, George possesses a talent to phrase, something which we cannot teach or students if they do not have it by nature. You may understand me better when I say instinctively he knows how to sing a song. I have great hopes in his future and I know the day will come when you will be a very happy little mother in sharing his success."

S. D. Snyder was called to Argos, Ind., by a message received on Sunday informing him of the death of his mother Mrs. Caroline Snyder at that place. Details concerning the death of Mrs. Snyder have not been received here and news of her demise came as a shock to Mr. Snyder who had no knowledge of her having been ill.

WACO WOMAN TRIED MEDICINE AFTER MEDICINE WITH NO AVAIL

"Since Taking One Bottle of Orgatone, My Health Is Completely Relieved," She Says.

"I can positively say that my case is another proof of the wonderful good that Orgatone will do, for I tried it, and have only taken one bottle so far, and it has made me feel like a different person."

For three long years, I have been bothered with stomach and digestive troubles," she continued. "Nearly everything I would eat disagreed with me, the food seemed like it would lodge in my stomach, and just stay there for hours, and make my stomach pain severely. I was mighty nervous and my sleep was all broken. I got to where I ate the lightest of foods, but still suffered the same trouble. It got to where it made no difference what I ate, I had indigestion. Gas would form and press against my heart until I would almost smother to death, for I could barely breathe. After every meal I would have a dull, listless feeling, and some times had dull headaches. I tried medicine after medicine but no avail, I couldn't get the proper relief."

"So many local people here had taken Orgatone with good results and so I got a bottle. My health is completely restored and I have not an ache or pain anywhere. I can eat most anything I want, and am not bothered at all with indigestion. The gas that formed on my stomach doesn't bother me and I haven't had a smothering spell since I started taking Orgatone. I haven't an ailment that I did have and I feel like a different person. Orgatone has helped me over my troubles and I do not hesitate in recommending it."

TWO NEGROES ARRESTED WHO ADMIT CRIME

Body of Youth Badly Broken By Impact With Car

HOME IN LOUISVILLE

His Mother Was Told Saturday Night of Death

John J. Losey, sophomore engineering student from Louisville, Ky., at A. and M. College, was run down Saturday night about 10 o'clock on the highway just outside the main gate of the college and almost instantly killed. Two negroes in the car that struck him speeded up and got away but were later arrested and placed in jail. They admitted running Losey down.

The body of the youth, who was the son of Mrs. Julia B. Losey, 1038 South Preston Street, Louisville, was shipped to Louisville Sunday afternoon. The remains were accompanied by Stephen H. Christensen, roommate of Losey, who was with him at the time of the accident. The youth's mother was advised Saturday night by phone of her son's death.

According to Christensen the two students were walking south just outside the main gate. They saw a car coming and went single file on the extreme right of the road. Christensen was in front. The car, he said, swerved across the road behind him and struck Losey and then raced away. Losey suffered a fractured skull, broken neck and fracture of one leg. According to Col. C. J. Nelson, commandant at the college, his body was found 41 paces from where it was struck.

Later Saturday evening Ollie Taylor and Jack Williams, negroes, were arrested after a car which Taylor said was his, was found to have traces of blood and hair on the rubber fitting of the windshield and a big dent well up on the hood. Each negro claims the other was driving the car and that he refused to stop when the other suggested it. The men will be arraigned in a day or two and probably held for the grand jury.

Col. Nelson said Sunday morning he thought one of the men a negro who some time ago ran down a nurse at the college hospital and speeded away.

Williams and Taylor were charged at noon today with negligent homicide and placed under bonds of $500 each. They will be brought before Justice of the Peace J. T. McGee next Monday for examining trial.

Ollie Taylor and Jack Williams, negroes, who were charged with negligent homicide in connection with the death of John J. Losey, A. and M. student who was run down and killed Saturday night on the highway just north of the main gate, were released from the county jail late Monday on bonds of $500 each. They will be given an examining trial before Justice J. T. McGee next Monday.

Two Bad Checks Passed Monday On Local Stores

An alleged "hot check" artist who is known to the Bryan police as J. J. Holiday, wanted little time and covered less territory in Bryan Monday evening while getting $10 worth of groceries and cash—mostly the latter—by passing two alleged worthless checks, each for $5, on two grocery stores.

The A. and P. and Piggy-Wiggy grocery stores both reported to the police Monday evening that they had cashed checks for $5 offered in payment for groceries, which had been drawn on a local bank and signed "J. J. Holiday."

The police were advised that the man was headed for Temple, according to report, and police officials at various communities along the route were notified to be on the lookout for the man.

Headlight Tests Will Be Made at 5 Bryan Garage

Five stations for the testing automobile headlights have been named by county officials, according to Judge A. S. McSwain, at all motorists must have their headlights tested and get a receipt to this effect before a 1930 license will be issued them by Tax Collector M. Ferguson.

The garages and filling stations named for the test are: D. White Motor Company, Wilson Motor Company, W. D. Lawrence Bryan Service Station and K. Service Station.

According to Mr. Ferguson will begin the issuing of 1930 auto licenses Monday, and will take care of all motorists as rapidly possible.

Veterans of War Have Time Limit To Adjust Bonds

Veterans of the World War have until January 1 to file application for adjusted service certificates, according to Congressman Luther Johnson. In a letter to the Eagle on this matter he says:

"On January 1, next, the time will expire for World War veterans or their relatives to file application for adjusted service certificates (known as the 'Bonus' which law was passed by Congress in 1924).

"Several hundred thousand veterans in the United States have failed to file applications. Those who have not, should do so before it is too late."

"If a veteran died without making application, his widow, child or dependent mother of full age may do so."

"Those desiring blank applications write me."

RECOVERIES OF INJURIES SUFFERED IN COLLISION

Billy Batts, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Batts of this city, is recovering nicely from injuries received Saturday when his car collided with a car being driven by D. B. Cofer and C. B. Campbell of A. and M. College, on Highway No. 6 between this city and College.

Dr. Campbell received a slight injury and Dr. Cofer escaped hurt, but Billy Batts received lacerations on his forehead and chin. He was taken to a local hospital where his wounds received attention and he is now at his home resting easy.

More Money for Public Schools in Texas Real Need, State's Teachers Are Told by President of Texas U.

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Dec. 5.—If a single generation should fail to pass religion and civilization to the next, "utter barbarism and savagery would again rule the earth for centuries," Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, told delegates to the Texas State Teachers Association convention in an address prepared for delivery today.

Dr. Benedict said our annual expenditure in the United States of two billions of dollars for education, compared with the total wealth, is not excessive.

"Two billions is about what we spend for tobacco, and the average annual expenditure per pupil, $60 in the public schools, is only about 10 per cent of the cost of a cheap car," Dr. Benedict said.

"If we think in the light of truth and duty and righteousness it will soon appear proper and right to set aside at least 10 per cent of the income of one generation for the education of the next. That 10 per cent is appreciably less than our present generation is spending for automobiles and gasoline."

It is difficult for "anyone seriously to contend that Texas is too poor to put more money in her public schools," the educator said, "it being remembered that there are more automobiles in Texas than in England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland combined. Texas is paying out at least three times as much for automobiles as for schools."

"Compared with the United States average we find that Texas in proportion to its financial position is putting only a little less than the average into her schools. We can view this in two ways: A—Texas ought not to put much more money into her schools because her school expenditures are now nearly up to the United States average in proportion to wealth and she is therefore too poor to spend more. B—The per capita wealth of the states being roughly proportional to the per capita amounts they spend for education, Texas is poor relatively because she spends relatively less on her schools, therefore spending more on her schools would make a richer and not a poorer Texas."

"I need not tell this audience that B is a truer view. One dollar more spent on schools produces forty dollars more on income plus a multitude of other good results. It is a truer statement than 'forty dollars more of income leads to one

$20,000,000 IS ADDED YEARLY TO WAGE COST.

Increases Are Given Other Labor On Hour Basis
ACTION PROMISED
By Henry Ford When At White House Conference

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Dec. 5.—A wage increase that will add $20,000,000 yearly to the payroll of the Ford Motor Company was announced today by Edsel Ford, president of the company.

The minimum wage of $6 per day is increased to $7 and an increase graduated on a basis of 5 cents an hour is given employees already receiving between $7 and $10 per day.

The increase is in line with the announcement recently made by Henry Ford at Washington during President Hoover's business conference.

Madison County Gets Money for Highway No. 21

Proponents of good roads in Bryan and Brazos county expressed much interest today in the announcement from Austin that the state highway department had agreed to spend $268,485 on Highway No. 21, from Madisonville to North Zuleh, in Madison county, on the condition that the county furnished $56,705.

This money, it is stated, will be expended for 11.5 miles widening embankment, lengthening culverts and concrete paving on this stretch of highway.

It is understood that the county has the money available, as a result of a bond issue voted some time ago and that this construction will be a work of the coming year, and will be ready to tie into the work that it is proposed to do in Brazos county on Highway No. 21, as a result of the bond issue voted in this county on Sept. 28, which provided the funds asked by the state highway department for the hard surfacing of this highway, as well as of No. 6, within the limits of this county.

NEGRESS 103 YRS. OLD IS BURNED TO DEATH

(By Associated Press)
LEXINGTON, Miss., Dec. 5.—Viney Marseillers, 103-year-old negress, was burned to death here today in the destruction by fire of her home. Two negroes found the aged mammy's clothes ablaze. She was wrapped in heavy clothing, but died within a few minutes.

No Damage Done To Buick Taken At Circus Here

L. J. Dupuy and Albert Hannon Jr., returned from Elgin last night where they went to get the Buick roadster belonging to Dupuy which was stolen from the circus grounds here on November 11 and abandoned at Elgin on the day following.

The conditions under which the car had been abandoned led officers at Elgin to suspect that it had been stolen. The car was moved to a garage there during the day in order to protect it from being stripped and when no inquiries were made concerning it, officers at Elgin asked a bus driver to ascertain for them at the highway department in Austin the location of the license number carried by the Dupuy car.

With this information at hand a wire was sent to Sheriff J. H. Reed inquiring about the car's owner and any circumstances regarding its disappearance that might assist in locating its owner. Sheriff Reed promptly notified Dupuy of the car's whereabouts.

The car has suffered but slight damage, this due to having been run some distance on a flat tire. The gas supply had evidently been exhausted and the thief went some little distance into Elgin for more. The car apparently refused to start due to the fact that the vacuum tank was entirely empty, therefore the abandonment. It is supposed that the occupants of the car were attempting to proceed on the highway from Taylor to Houston without passing through Elgin. A quantity of candy bars were found in the rear compartment of the car, presumably stolen from a stand at the circus grounds.

Former Resident Finds Bryan Is Much Improved

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Watford and grandson of Lukfin were among the former Bryan citizens, who returned on Thanksgiving Day to renew old acquaintances and also to enjoy the football victory of the Aggies on Kyle Field in the afternoon.

Mr. Watford is editor of the Lukfin News, and is a veteran newspaper man of Texas. For many years he was associated with the old Brazos Pilot, the pioneer newspaper of Brazos county.

Mr. Watford enjoyed the day hugely. "But, Bryan is so beautiful with its new streets, new buildings, new stores and banks and so illuminated with varicolored lights as a result of its new civic pride, that I can hardly recognize the old home town," he said. "It is dear old Bryan, however, with its same hospitable friends and neighbors of other days."

First East Texas Poultry Show Not Only Educational but Also Has Strong Competitive Side

LONGVIEW, Dec. 5.—While predominantly educational in nature, the first annual East Texas Poultry Show, at Palestine, December 11, 12, 13 and 14, will be interesting also in its competitive feature, by reason of a premium list of approximately $1,200 and several attractive special prizes. The special prizes include one of $150 for the county whose exhibits score the highest total of points, and sweepstakes awards of $25 for the best male bird and the best female bird of the show, the latter offered through courtesy of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company.

Through the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, by which the show was organized and is sponsored, exhibits have been assured from Red River to the Gulf, Lamar, Harrison, Shelby, Nacogdoches, Henderson and other counties are assembling fowls, and will make special effort to win the county prize of $150. Numerous individual breeders interviewed by Roger Davis, agricultural director of the regional chamber of commerce, at the recent fairs at Houston and Beaumont, gave assurance that the southern part of the territory would be strongly in evidence with fowls and show visitors.

Preparations for the show at Palestine are rapidly rounding into form, and every detail will be complete when the gates open on the morning of December 11. This report comes from E. J. Summers, secretary-treasurer of the Palestine Chamber of Commerce, and W. L. Tubbs, secretary. In the more technical details of the management, Mr. Summers will have the assistance of E. N. Holmgren.

THANKSGIVING VISITOR BAGS BIG 12-POINT BUCK

R. M. Gordon and son Bob Gordon Jr. or Houston, who joined Mrs. Gordon in Bryan for a Thanksgiving visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Saunders, returned to Houston today, Mrs. Gordon remaining for a longer visit.

Bob Gordon Jr. was specially joyous this Thanksgiving because he had just returned from a big deer hunt with friends near Houston, and had brought down his first deer, a 12-point buck, fat and fine, and a real tribute to his skill as a hunter.
